

An English View.

JOHN BRIGHT ON AMERICAN AFFAIRS.
In a speech at Rochdale, on the 1st inst., Mr. Bright spoke as follows:

Now, is this cotton question a great question, or not? I met a spinner to-day—he does not live in Rochdale, though I met him here—and I asked him what he thought about it; and he said, "Well, I think cotton will come somehow." (Laughter.) And I find that there is that kind of answer to be had from three out of four of all the spinners you ask. They know that in past times when cotton has risen fifty or eighty per cent., or some extravagant rise, something has come—the rate of interest was raised, or there had been a commercial panic from some cause or other, and down the price has gone, and when everybody said "there would be no cotton at Christmas," there proved a very considerable stock at Christmas. And so they say now, "I don't in the least deny that it will be so; all I assert is that this particular case is new, that we have never had a war in the United States between different sections of the country, affecting the production of cotton here; and it is not fair, nor wise, but rather childish than otherwise, to argue from past events, which were not a bit like this, of the present which is now passing before our eyes."

They say, "It is quite true there is a civil war in America, but it will blow over; there will be a compromise; or the English Government will break the blockade." Now, recollect what breaking the blockade means. It means war with the United States; and I don't think myself that it would be cheap to break the blockade, at the cost of a war with the United States. I think that the cost of a war with the United States would give, probably, half wages, for a very considerable time to those persons in Lancashire who would be out of work if there was no cotton, to say nothing of all the maritime injustice and wrong against all international law, that a legal and effective blockade should be interfered with by another country. It is not exactly the business of this meeting, but my opinion is, that the safety of the products on which this country depends rests far more on the success of the Washington government than upon its failure; and I believe nothing could be more monstrous than for us, who are very averse to war ourselves, to set up for critics—cursing, eviling critics—of what the Washington government is doing.

I saw a letter the other day from an Englishman, resident for twenty-five years in Philadelphia, a merchant there, and a very prosperous one. He said: "I prefer the institutions of this country (the United States) very much to those in England; but he says also, 'If it were admitted that here we have no country and no government, but that any portion of these United States can break off from the central government whenever it pleases, then it is time for me to pack up what I have, and to go somewhere where there is a country and a government!'" Well, that is the pitch of this question. Do you suppose that they would break off from the United Kingdom that those newspapers which are now preaching every kind of moderation to the Government of Washington would advise the Government in London to allow these two countries to set up a special government for themselves? When the people of Ireland asked that they should secede, was it proposed in London that they should be allowed to secede peacefully? Nothing of the kind.

I am not going to defend what is taking place in a country that is well able to defend itself. But I advise you, and I advise the people of England, to abstain from applying to the United States doctrines and principles which we never apply to our own case. At any rate, they have never fought for the balance of power in Europe. They have never fought to keep up a decaying empire. They have never squandered the money of their people in such phantom expeditions as we have been engaged in. And now at this moment, when you are told that they are going to be ruined by their vast expenditure, why the sum that they are going to raise in the great emergency of this grievous war is no greater than that we raise every year during a time of peace. (Loud cheers.) They say that they are not going to liberate slaves. No! the object of the Washington Government is to maintain their own Constitution, and to get legally, as it permits and requires. No man is more in favor of peace than I am; no man has denounced war more than I have, probably, in this country; few men in their public life, have suffered more obloquy—I had almost said, more indignity—in consequence of it. But I cannot for the life of me, upon any of those principles upon which States are governed now—I say nothing of the literal word of the New Testament—I cannot see how the state of affairs in America, with regard to the U. S. Government, could have been different from what it is at this moment. We had a heparch in this country, and it was thought to be good to get rid of it, and to have a united nation. If the 33 or 34 States of the American Union can break off whenever they like, I can see nothing but disaster and confusion throughout the whole of that continent. I say that the war, be it successful or not, be it Christian or not, be it wise or not, is a war to sustain the government and to sustain the authority of a great nation; and that the people of England, if they are true to their own sympathies, to their own great act of 1834, to which reference has already been made, will have no sympathy for those who wish to build up a great empire on the perpetual bondage of millions of their fellow men. (Loud cheers.)

An important and Stomachic preparation of IRON purified of Oxygen and Carbon by combustion in Hydrogen, sanctioned by the highest Medical Authorities, both in Europe and the United States, and prescribed in their practice.

The experience of thousands daily proves that no preparation of Iron can be compared with it. Impurities of the blood, depression of vital energy, pale and otherwise sickly countenances, indicate its necessity in almost every conceivable case.

Innocuous in all maladies in which it has been tried, it has proved absolutely curative in each of the following complaints, viz:

In Debility, Nervous Affections, Dyspepsia, Consumption, Diarrhea, Dysentery, Infantile Consumption, Scrophulous Tuberculosis, Salt Rheum, Misanthropy, Whites, Chlorosis, Liver Complaints, Chronic Headaches, Rheumatism, Intermittent Fevers, Pimples on the Face, &c.

In cases of General Debility, whether the result of acute disease, or of the continued diminution of nervous and muscular energy from chronic complaints, one trial of this restorative has proved successful to an extent which no description nor written attestation would render credible. Invalids so long bed-ridden as to become forgotten in their own neighborhoods, returned from protracted travel in a distant land. Some very singular instances of this kind are attested of female sufferers, emancipated victims of apparent mania, sanguineous exhaustion, critical changes, and that completion of nervous and despondent action to air and exercise for which it is so well adapted.

In Nervous affections of all kinds, and for reasons familiar to medical men, the operation of this preparation is most remarkably salutary. For, unlike the old oxides, it is a vigorous tonic, without being exciting or over-heating; and gently, regularly applied even in the most obstinate cases of nervousness without ever being a gastric purgative, or indicating a disagreeable sensation.

It is this latter property, among others, which makes it so remarkably efficient and permanent a remedy for debility, upon which it also appears to exert a specific action, by dispersing the local tendency which forms them.

In Dyspepsia, indigestion, and its causes, a single box of these Chalybeate Pills has often sufficed for the most habitual cases, including the habit and Constipation, uncheckered Diarrhea, even when advanced to Dysentery, confirmed, emaciating, and apparently malignant, the effects have been equally decisive and action lasting.

In the local pains, loss of flesh and strength, debilitating cough, and remittent hectic, which generally indicate Incipient Consumption, this remedy has allayed the alarm of friends and physicians, in several very gratifying and interesting instances.

The attention of females cannot be too confidently invited to this remedy and restorative. In the cases peculiarly affecting them.

In the men, both chronic and inflammatory—in the latter, however, decidedly so—it has been invariably well reported, both as alleviating pain and reducing the swellings and stiffness of the joints and muscles.

In Intermittent Fevers it must necessarily be a great remedy, and as it is in progress in the new set elements of the West, will probably be one of high repute and usefulness.

No remedy has ever been a desideratum in the whole history of medicine, which has so promptly, happily, and fully restorative effects. Good appetite, complete digestion, rapid acquisition of strength, with an unusual disposition for active and cheerful exercise, immediately follow its use.

Put up in neat metal boxes containing 50 pills, 50 cents per box; for sale by druggists and dealers. Will be sent free to any address on receipt of the price. All letters, orders, &c., should be addressed to J. C. EMERY & CO., General Agents, N. Y.

A CANADIAN REMEDY

For Costiveness, Irregularity and Debility of the Digestive Organs, Inducing Headache, "asthitude, Nervousness, General Prostration of the Mind and Body, Paralysis, &c.

A moment's reflection ought to convince a sensible man of the folly and danger of constantly dosing with Cathartic

Medicines. The practice is pernicious and suicidal.

An experience of forty years has taught me that the constantly increasing evils of Indigestion are fearfully aggravated by the too free use of Cathartics. The American people are fast becoming a nation of dyspeptics

by their artificial modes of life. Drastic Cathartics increase the irritability, and prostrate the strength of the digestive organs.

The pills now offered are especially designed to allay

this irritability, and at the same time to invigorate and strengthen all the functions of digestion, while they are gently laxative. They are anodyne, tonic and laxative.

They are so mild and invigorating that one is not reminded

by any disagreeable effects that he has taken medicine.

Business Men, Students, Professional Men, Females, and

all persons leading a confined or sedentary life, should try the high professional standing of Dr. Colby of Standeard, one of the oldest and best Physicians, and to the excellent qualities of his "Anti-Costive and Tonic Pills," which we have used in our practice, and highly approve.

WOODS'RESTORATIVE*CORDIAL*AND*BLOOD-RENOVATOR.

It is precisely what its name indicates, for while pleasant to the taste, it is revivifying, exhilarating and strengthening the vital powers. It is so revivifying, reinstates and recovers the blood in its original purity, and thus restores and renders the system invulnerable to attacks of disease. It is the only preparation ever offered to the world in a popular, medicinal and scientific form. It is a powerful, yet a medicinal and scientific combined as to be the most powerful tonic, and yet so perfectly as to act in perfect accordance with the laws of nature, and hence it is the weakest stomachic and tonic up to the date of its invention, and it is the only one that will also and allay all nervous and other irritations.

It is also perfectly adapted to its effects and yet it is never followed by lassitude or depression of spirits. It is composed of vegetable and mineral ingredients, and is a powerful tonic

and refreshing, and can be taken in any
